

The challenge

Your turn in the spotlight

Take on the role of a budding sports journalist and enter the challenge. We would like you to prepare one question to ask a footballer.

Use the pack to help you prepare your question and practise your interviewing skills and when you feel confident that you have a great question - take part in the challenge!

Share your question and win an exclusive prize

This week the Premier League and Sky VIP have teamed up to offer you a fantastic prize for taking part in the challenge. We would like you to share a video of you setting your Premier League Primary Stars - Hot Seat Heroes question with us on Twitter @PLCommunities and hashtag #PLPrimaryStars or via email plprimarystars@premierleague.com, and you could win the chance to take part in a very special virtual Q&A session with former Premier League player and Sky Sports presenter, Jamie Carragher.

You have until Friday 17 July to send in your submissions.

The challenge

Your turn in the spotlight

Before sharing videos, consider these safety points:

- Only parents or teachers can submit videos. If films are created in school, parental consent of the children featured must be gained before submitting the video.
- Children should not include music that they did not create themselves.
- Think carefully about what is uploaded or shared on social media platforms.
- Keep personal information private and take care not to give away too much identifiable information in photos and videos.
- Make sure not to feature other people in your videos, apart from family members.
- It is important to talk to children regularly about online safety. Let them know they can talk to a trusted adult if they're feeling worried, pressured, upset or unsafe.

