

Challenge 5: Matt Oldfield & Charlotte Browne

My hero

We want you to tell us all about someone you think is amazing.

Who is the ultimate hero in your life?

Who do you look up to or admire for being awesome or for their ability to do something really well? What makes them different or out of the ordinary for you?

Have a think... maybe your hero is great at scoring goals, painting pictures, writing songs that you love, cooking great pizza or making you laugh. Their 'superpower' can be an adjective too, for example, they are patient, determined or caring. They don't need to be famous. They could be a relative, friend or even a pet!

Here's our challenge:

1. Your first job is to tell us who they are and what their 'superpower' or special ability is – maybe they have more than one!
2. Next, tell us how they got there. What were the steps to their greatness? They probably started off with small things. For example, a true animal hero might have begun by rescuing mini-beasts in danger of getting squished on a pavement (bronze) but then worked up to setting up an animal sanctuary (gold)! If it's someone you know, ask them questions to find this out. If it's someone famous, you could look it up or imagine what might have happened.
3. Finally – time to celebrate their greatness! Can you draw, or write about, a scene where your hero is celebrating?

Think about: what might they enjoy doing and who would they celebrate with?

Challenge 5: Matt Oldfield & Charlotte Browne

My hero

Part one: Fact file

Name:

What they do best:

Super power 1:

Super power 2:

Super power 3:

Part two: The journey

Hero moment 1: Bronze

Hero moment 2: Silver

Hero moment 3: Gold!

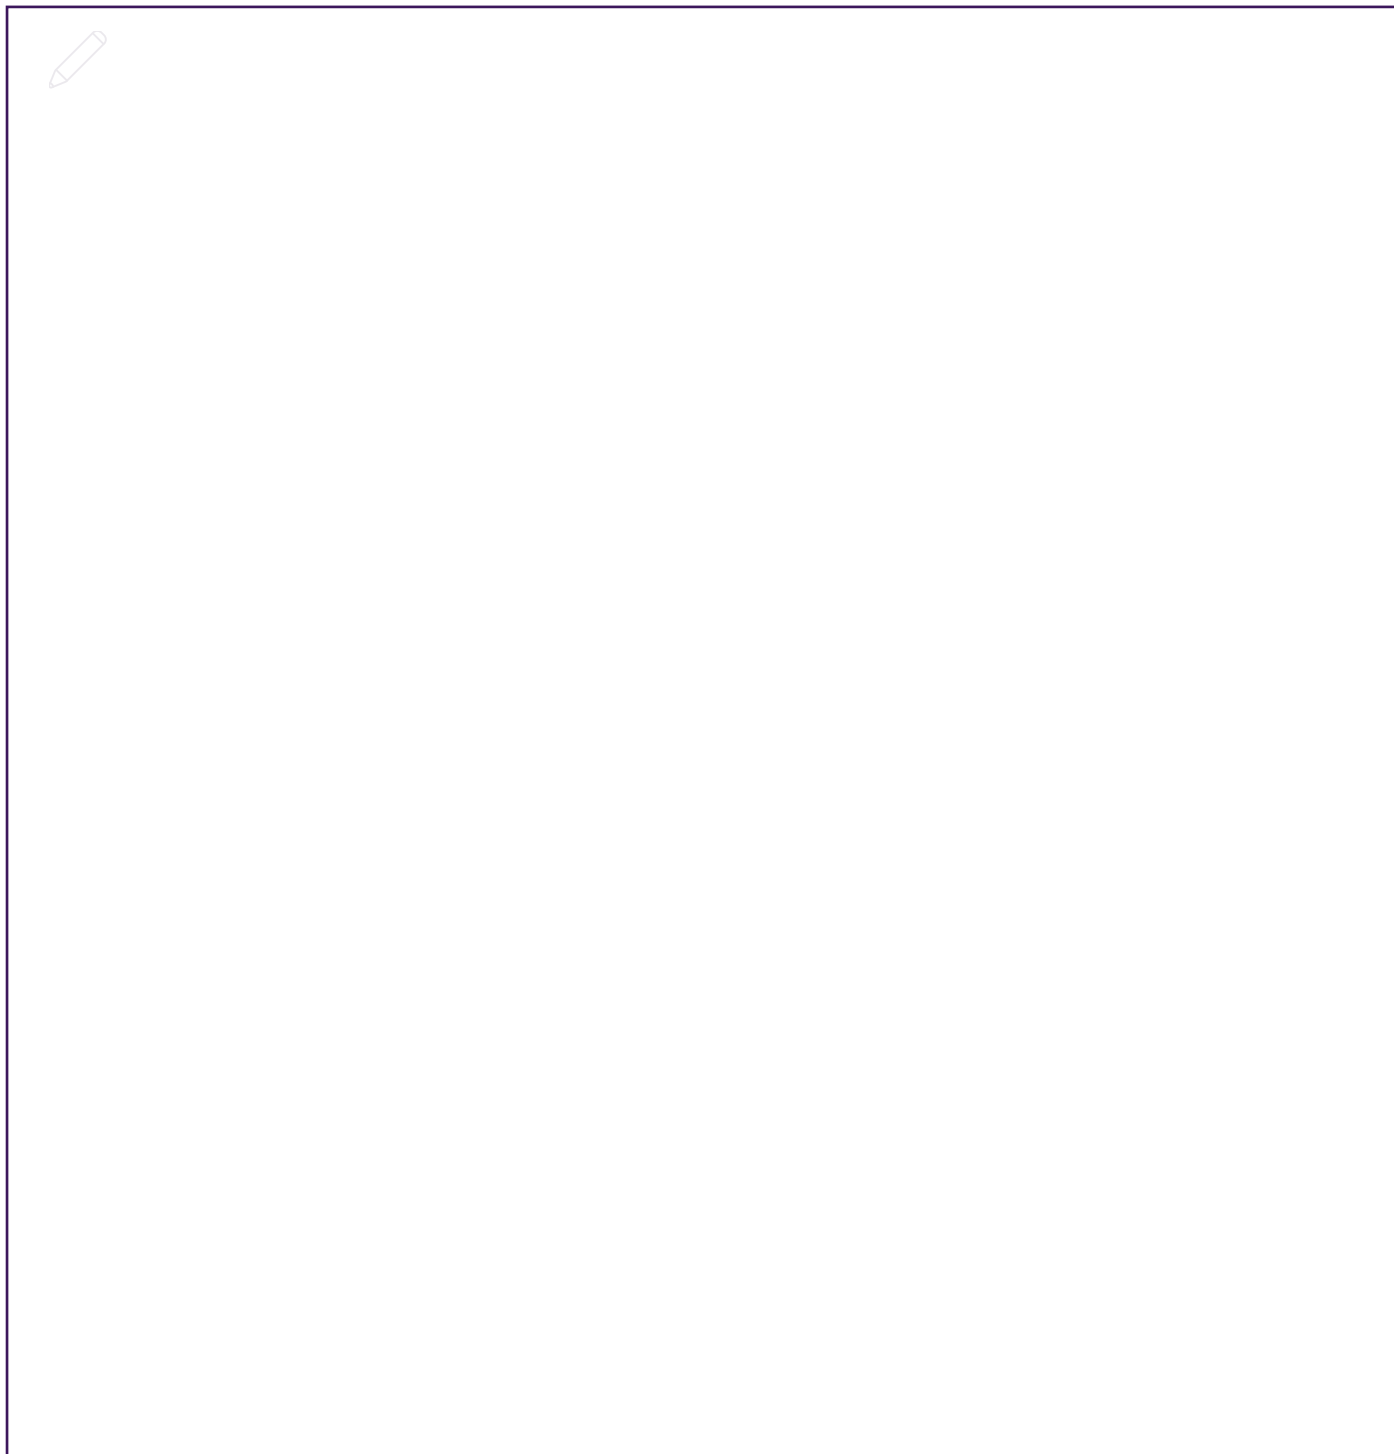

Challenge 5: Matt Oldfield & Charlotte Browne

My hero

Part three: The celebration

Time to celebrate!

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for a drawing or writing. A small pencil icon is located in the top-left corner of the box.